

Dear Colleagues!

Institute of Mathematics of the University of Georgia is pleased to invite you to the Online Tbilisi Analysis & PDE Seminar. The seminar is held bi-weekly on Mondays at 20 : 00 local time in Tbilisi.

Talk on May 9, 2022

Speaker: Prof. Volker Mehrmann, TU Berlin, Germany;

The title of the lecture: “Modeling analysis and numerical simulation of multi-physical systems: A change of paradigm”

Abstract: Most real world dynamical systems consist of subsystems from different physical domains, modeled by partial-differential equations, ordinary differential equations, algebraic equations, combined with input and output connections. To deal with such complex systems, in recent years the class of dissipative port-Hamiltonian (pH) systems have emerged as a very efficient new modeling methodology. The main reasons are that the network based interconnection of pH systems is again pH, Galerkin projection in PDE discretization and model reduction preserve the pH structure and the physical properties are encoded in the geometric properties of the flow as well as the algebraic properties of the equations. Furthermore, dissipative pH system form a very robust representation under structured perturbations and directly indicate Lyapunov functions for stability analysis. We discuss dissipative pH systems and describe, how many classical models can be formulated in this class. We illustrate some of the nice algebraic properties, including local canonical forms, the formulation of an associated Dirac structure, and the local invariance under space-time dependent diffeomorphisms. The results are illustrated with some real world examples.

Date: May 9, 2022

Time: 20 : 00 local time in Tbilisi;
