NINI MIKADZE – THE STUDENT OF GEORGIAN PHILOLOGY OF THE SCHOOL OF ARTS AND HUMANITIES

The University of Georgia enriched my knowledge, improved my self-confidence and transformed me into an independent person. The University of Georgia helped me develop the skills that I will use not only in my professional field but in my personal life as well.

Over 3 years I have had the opportunity to meet interesting and professional lecturers. The University taught me how much work it takes to achieve success. It evoked my interest to the field of Humanities.

The most important thing is that the University of Georgia provides its students with the prospects to achieve career advancements. This is the place that offers students cozy, interesting and comfortable surroundings; it gives them a chance to become an educated, competitive and fully developed professional.

Today I'm very proud and glad that I made a right choice in 2014 when I decided to be enrolled in the University of Georgia because my expectations have been greatly exceeded.
